THE SHADOW: The History and Mystery of the Radio Program, 1930-1954

The Shadow — for the consideration of those who never heard a radio broadcast or read a pulp magazine — was a supernatural sleuth with a sepulchral chuckle. A detective whose success in tracking down criminals became a popular long-running radio program from 1937 to 1954, after beginning a number of years before as a ghostlike voice introducing a bone-chilling murder play that concluded with a sinister laugh. This 800 page book documents the entire history of the long-running radio program, with rare never-before-seen photos, interviews with cast and crew, and a carefully organized presentation of the facts. Through extensive research of original radio scripts, newspapers on microfilm and various archives across the country, this book is sure to please both casual and devoted fans of The Shadow. An extensive episode guide with plot summaries and an index enhance the book's appeal. 825 pages $30

"For those who first heard The Shadow on the air when radio was young, this book will bring back memories. For those too young to remember the radio show, this is a wonderful introduction. For the collector and historian of old-time radio, there are facts here they may be seeing for the first time. For everyone else, this is a book to treasure."

About the Book

Before television, radio was the sole source of simultaneous mass entertainment in America. The medium served as launching pad for the careers of countless future stars of stage and screen. Singers and conductors became legends by offering musical entertainment directly to Americans in their homes, vehicles, and places of work and play.

This volume presents biographies of 24 renowned performers who spent a significant portion of their careers in front of a radio microphone. Profiles of individuals like Steve Allen, Rosemary Clooney, Bob Crosby, Johnny Desmond, Jo Stafford, and Percy Faith, along with groups such as the Ink Spots and the King's Men, reveal the private lives behind the public personas and bring to life the icons and ambiance of a bygone era.

About the Author

Jim Cox, a leading historian of radio programming in the 20th century, is an award-winning author of numerous books about old time radio. A retired college professor, he lives in Louisville, Kentucky.

MID-ATLANTIC Nostalgia CONVENTION

www.MidAtlanticNostalgiaConvention.com

August 9, 10 and 11, 2012

Hunt Valley Marriott, Hunt Valley, Maryland

You've heard about it, but what's it all about?

The Mid-Atlantic Nostalgia Convention was started in 2006 as a group effort to keep Old-Time Radio and other forms of nostalgia alive. Celebrities from Hollywood fly in to pose for photos and sign autographs for fans. Some consider the event a three day film festival because of the nostalgic movies being screened 24 hours a day. Some consider the event a large nostalgia marketplace because of the 150 vendor tables. Some consider the event an old-time radio convention because of the re-creations and slide show presentations held every hour. MANC, however, is none of these. MANC is a nostalgia convention and it has proven a success because the crowd has grown in size between 200 and 450 people every year. Last year's attendance broke past 1,500! Courtesy of the charity auction, MANC also helped raise thousands of dollars for the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital and there is pride in knowing that our convention has placed attendees and fans above profits, in order to accomplish something more beneficial.

BIG NEWS! We are proud to announce that over 130 annual attendees of the Friends of Old-Time Radio Convention have pre-paid admission costs for the 2012 MANC. We are gratified to know that many of our friends, whom we see only once a year, are going to pay MANC a visit. We are certain that they will find MANC as exciting as FOTR and make return visits every year. MANC is proud to be one of the fastest growing conventions on the East Coast, and continuing the tradition of keeping Old-Time Radio alive.

As someone recently said, the lifetime of memories you get from attending a convention far exceeds the cost of admission, which is competitively lower in price than most other events. Everyone who attends gets a 48 page program guide filled with many informative articles. Everyone who pre-pays their admission receives a goody bag filled with DVDs, comics, posters, books, tee shirts and more! Everyone staying at the hotel (for at least one evening) receives a free DVD (retailing $14.95). If you do not drive, transportation to the hotel via Amtrak is available and the light rail takes you across the street from where the hotel is located -- there's no reason why you cannot attend this year's event! We encourage you to visit the convention web-site at www.MidAtlanticNostalgiaConvention.com or call us at 443-286-6821 and we'll be more than glad to answer your questions. If this is your first year attending MANC, let us know when you check in at the front desk as this year we have a special gift for new attendees!
